Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 02 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Heavy snow at first over the Peak District.

Today:
Rain, sleet, and snow during the morning with some heavy snow over the Peak District, giving significant accumulations. Gradually turning drier and less cold into the afternoon, with heavy showers to follow in the evening. Strong winds easing. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Heavy showers continuing into the evening, before gradually clearing northeast. Most places then turning drier with some clearer spells developing, and generally light winds. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Wednesday:
Most places dry with some bright or sunny spells and generally light winds. Perhaps some showers spreading east later. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Thursday and Friday, some bright spells but also some showers, which could be heavy at times. Saturday, further spells of rain likely, turning wintry later as colder east winds develop.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.